Santa Fe Trail Cattle Drive

575-376-2035

Come to where the west still lives! Join us for a 2-day cattle drive through the famous Santa Fe Trail. Enjoy the beauty of the great outdoors of New Mexico, sleep in the “Cowboy Bunkhouse”, listen to the stories of the Old West and learn about the people that came across the same trail that you will ride on, then end each day by enjoying some of the best food you will ever taste!

You'll arrive on Thursday between 3:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.—in time to enjoy dinner at our lodge. The next day we will all eat breakfast together with the cowboys at 7:00 a.m.—sharp to prepare for a learning day with your trail boss. To give you an idea of what to expect....

Day 1—Learning the Ropes—After eating a hearty breakfast, you will go down to the barn and spend the morning learning the basics of how to saddle a horse, how to ride, and how to handle cattle. We will even let you do some roping on our practice “animals”. In the afternoon you will get to practice what you have learned and enjoy some time in the arena, and then through the meadow riding your horse. You'll be ready for a break at 5:00 p.m. and then dinner at 6:30. Bedtime will come soon and you'll want to get a good night's sleep for the next day.

Day 2—On the Trail- After breakfast we will go to the barn and saddle the horses. Depending on where our cattle drive begins, we may haul the horses (and you) to the starting destination. From then on, it is on the trail making sure that no cow loses her way or that a stray cow finds her way into our herd! The herd will be “strung out” for quite a ways, so you may be on your own from time to time just enjoying the scenery, listening to the sounds of the drive, wondering about those that rode the trail long ago, and making sure the cattle stay on the trail. We will stop for a cowboy lunch and then start again in time to get to the “holding pen” in time for the cows to settle in and then we will get you back to the comfort of the bunkhouse and a good shower and meal! That night we will share stories of the days gone by (told by our local historian) and now that you've been on the trail, you'll likely be able to visualize what those folks of the past experienced.

Day 3—On the Trail Again- Yep, breakfast at 7:00 again, and then off to the holding pen to saddle our horses and finish the drive! We will be done by early afternoon and everyone will come back to the ranch for a hearty lunch and a fond farewell.

Our prices are great! Only $1450 per person for an all inclusive 4-night and 3-day adventure.

(Family discounts available)

If you want even more fun, we will put together a custom package that could include, fishing, trail riding, sporting clay shooting, a visit to the historic St James Hotel, and hiking. Stay a few more days and take a tour through Red River, Taos, and Angel Fire (you'll be on your own for this). Additional days of lodging can be provided to you at a cost of $100 a night per person in the bunkhouse—or treat yourself to the lodge for only $200 a night per person.
